INTERFAITH SOCIAL SERVICES

Serving the South Shore
Since 1947

Interfaith Social Services is a nonreligious multiservice center for families and individuals in need. Since 1947 Interfaith has endeavored to strengthen family life and offer assistance to residents of Massachusetts' South Shore region by feeding, clothing, and comforting our impoverished neighbors.

Programs include:

- Pantry Shelf: distributing over 400,000 lbs. of food to impoverished local residents every year.
- HomeSafe: providing assistance and homelessness prevention services to families and individuals in emergency situations.
- New Directions Counseling Center: serves adults, children, couples and families who are dealing with a myriad of life issues. A special program within the center reaches out to clients who cannot afford the help that they so desperately need.
- Harvest Helpers: organizes backyard gardeners and community groups who donate fresh local produce to food pantries.
- Quincy Medical Center Interfaith Chaplaincy: delivers counseling to hospital patients and grieving families.
- Bureau Drawer Thrift Shop: provides the community with an affordable option for clothing and household items. The shop is run entirely by volunteers.
- Career Closet: outfits low income job seekers with free professional attire.
